Claim 100 Are Killed In Clashes

TOKYO (AP) — A wall poster in Peking reported today that more than 100 persons were killed and many wounded in clashes between supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung in Red China's remote Sinkiang Province.

The poster, reported by Japan's Kyodo News Service, said the fighting occurred in the city of Shihotzu in the northwestern province bordering on the Soviet Union.

The report did not specify when the clashes occurred, but indicated it was a fresh outbreak in the province where anti-Mao forces have been reported dug in and putting up strong resistance.

The poster said most of the Red army troops in the area are backing the anti-Mao provincial military commander and the head of the provincial party committee.

Kyodo, quoting another wall poster in Peking, said the situation in Sinkiang Province is "too tense for a deputy military commander there to settle."

Quoting a dispatch from Urumchi, provincial capital of Sinkiang, the report of fighting in Shihotzu said machine guns, rifles, field artillery and hand grenades were used in clashes.

The center of Shihotzu is under control of anti-Maoists, main highways have been closed, and long-distance telephone lines have been cut, it said. Similar clashes occurred in nearby towns, it said.

Little Red Schoolhouse Is Studied

The executive committee of the Pettis County Historical Society braved inclement weather Thursday to attend a meeting at the office of Dr. C. Foster Scotten, county superintendent of schools, and discussed topics including the McVey School restoration and the nomination of a former Sedalian to the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame. About ten persons attended.

The primary topic was McVey School, better known locally as the "Little Red Schoolhouse." Last year the historical group here leased the building and began plans for restoring the old historical monument. Discussion revealed that at least $3,000 would be needed to complete the project, which includes renovation of the exterior and interior of the building.

Some work has been done, but the major portion of reconstruction still remains to be undertaken. Outbuildings and grounds are included in the clean-up and preservation effort.

Mrs. Leonard Hall, an active member of the Sedalia Garden Clubs, submitted a landscaping plan for the school and the land it stands on. The recommendation (Please turn to Page 4, Col. 7)

See Greater Net Income For MoPac

The Missouri Pacific System's consolidated net income of $26,746,644 in 1966 rose $446,065 above the record earnings reported last year, Downing B. Jenks, president, announced today.

Operating revenues for the year were $432,431,875, a rise of $15,800,401. Operating expenses of $330,384,409 were up $10,022,628, partly because of higher transportation costs for moving additional traffic, but largely because of an increase of more than $4,600,000 in wages and fringe benefits, a severe flood in Texas and a four-day system-wide strike, Mr. Jenks pointed out.

Mr. Jenks said MoPac's better performance in 1966 reflects increased operating efficiency resulting from complete modernization of the system, improved freight train schedules, innovation in pricing and marketing methods, use of new service concepts, and industrial growth along the railroad. He also pointed out that heavier loading of larger freight cars and a greater proportion of higher-revenue traffic helped add to earnings last year.

On a basis of generally accepted accounting principles, which eliminates income tax credits resulting from increased depreciation allowable for tax purposes, net income for 1966 totaled $20,511,926, an increase of $2,997,752 over the previous year.

Net income for the fourth quarter was $5,573,958 compared with $6,506,554. On a basis of generally accepted accounting principles, net income was $3,836,699 compared with $4,311,399 in the final quarter of 1965. Operating revenues rose by $1,903,314 to $112,648,745 for the period, while operating expenses rose $2,203,298 to $88,436,418, reflecting both a rise in wage costs and increased programmed maintenance.

Appeals Court Has Affirmed Sentence

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A five-year prison sentence for Alfred H. Osborne, Sr., former Kansas City lawyer, has been affirmed by the U. S. Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Osborne, 59, is free on bond. He has 30 days to file another appeal or surrender to the federal marshal.

He was convicted two years ago of conspiring to defraud Californians of $140,000 through a proposed rapid transit firm.

Another former Kansas City man, Sam Melnick, pleaded guilty to the same charge and received a three-year sentence.

Space Treaty Is Signed In Ceremony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surrounded by ambassadors representing nations around the world, President Johnson presides today at a special White House ceremonial signing of a treaty aimed at preserving outer space for peaceful purposes.

By early today, more than 40 envoys had signed their intent to commit their countries to the 2,000-word, five-language treaty at the late afternoon ceremony in the East Room of the executive mansion. Still more were expected to join the roster during the day.

The treaty was signed early today in Moscow at ceremonies attended by Soviet Premier Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson and British Ambassador Sir Geoffrey Harrison signed it at Spiridonov Palace, site of the signing of the 1963 limited nuclear test ban treaty.

A signing was also scheduled for London.

More than 100 nations are expected to sign up eventually.

The treaty was worked out mainly in negotiations between the two great space powers — the United States and the Soviet Union — and is rated by diplomats as another sign that Washington and Moscow can reach new agreements despite their differences over Vietnam.

Mothers To Seek Dimes Here Feb. 1

"Can you spare an hour to save a child?"

Mrs. Adam B. Fischer, chairman of the 1967 Pettis County Mothers' March, asked this question today as she appealed for women throughout the county to volunteer for the traditional event which climaxes the March of Dimes campaign on Feb. 1. Any person wishing to volunteer their services may do so by calling TA 6-2540.

Preparations for the Mother's March are moving along effectively under the combined efforts of Mrs. David G. Curry, Mrs. Walter Loveland, Mrs. James D. Mayes, Mrs. William Wolff and the Citizens Band Radio Club, according to Mrs. Fischer.

She explained that an important share of March of Dimes funds goes to support scientific researchers now working to uncover knowledge which can spare future babies the tragedy of birth defects. Mrs. Fischer pointed out that emphasis is also being placed on rehabilitating the child who is born with a defect.

"Please help us to continue this child-saving work by volunteering as a Mothers' Marcher," she concluded.

Huge Settlement Is Offered To Estate

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — A $375,000 settlement has been offered to the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Ovid Crouch of St. Joseph, who were killed in a plane crash in Japan last March.

Crouch was president of a firm that operates about 300 trucks in Missouri and Kansas.

Crouch, 54, and his wife, Ruby, 43, were on a convention trip sponsored by a Minneapolis firm. They were among 85 persons killed in a Boeing 707 airliner that plunged into Mt. Fuji.

The settlement offer was made by British Overseas Airways Corp. and the Boeing Co. and was filed in Buchanan County Probate Court.

Vietnam Bombing Restraint Probable Headache for LBJ

To Mobilize Opinion For Relaxation of the Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Peter H. Dominick said today critical senators may go directly to President Johnson with their complaints about the restrictions imposed on U. S. pilots operating over North Viet Nam.

And Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., forecast a campaign to mobilize public opinion and seek relaxation of the rules.

US Winds Up Biggest War Job So Far

720 Enemy Dead Claimed From Delta Operation

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. infantrymen today wound up the biggest operation so far in the Vietnam war, claiming 720 enemy dead. Meanwhile U. S. Marines pressed ahead with a new drive in the northern part of South Vietnam.

Backed by tanks, artillery and planes, the Leathernecks in the new Operation Tuscaloosa reported killing 74 Red soldiers in day-long fighting 15 miles southeast of Da Nang, the big Marine base on the northern coast.

The U. S. command announced the end of Operation Cedar Falls, which set an estimated 30,000 Americans to the jungled "iron triangle" 20 to 30 miles northwest of Saigon for a 19-day scorched earth campaign.

In addition to the 720 Communist dead reported, the Americans captured a record 3,709 tons of rice, enough to feed 10,000 troops for a year. The purpose of the operation was to make the triangle useless as a base from which to menace Saigon and the area around the capital.

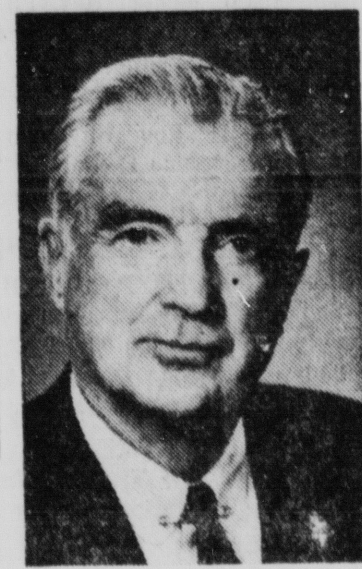

In the northern end of the country, 6 miles south of the demilitarized zone, U. S. helicopters lifted out a surrounded Marine reconnaissance patrol and a relief force that had been sent in to help and was also surrounded. Marine spokesmen said Leatherneck casualties were light but one big helicopter crashed and burned and two others were forced down by enemy fire.

On the political scene, South Vietnam's ruling military junta headed by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky met behind closed doors to discuss a shakeup in the government set in motion by the ouster of the deputy premier and defense secretary, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co. Co is in Hong Kong, and late Friday the outcome of the junta meeting was not known.

Over North Vietnam, U. S. pilots flew 68 missions Thursday, concentrating on targets below Haiphong, along the North Vietnamese coast and in the southern panhandle.

Navy fliers from the carriers Coral Sea and Ticonderoga reported destroying or damaging 38 cargo barges along the coast and on inland waterways. Other carrier pilots made rocket attacks on a transshipment point 24 miles southeast of Haiphong and reported damaging the target area.

The Bodoro is an ore carrier believed to be of Liberian registration.

STUART SYMINGTON

Fraternity Honors To Symington

One Individual To Be Initiated Every Ten Years

Stuart Symington, senior U. S. senator from Missouri, has been selected for honorary membership in the University of Missouri chapter of Alpha Zeta, honorary fraternity of undergraduate students enrolled in colleges of agriculture.

Sen. Symington will be initiated at a 5:30 p.m. ceremony in the Memorial Union on the University campus Feb. 10. He will be guest speaker at an Alpha Zeta banquet scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

Occasion for the honorary membership and special banquet is observance of the MU chapter's 60th anniversary, according to Alois Kertz, Alpha Zeta chancellor.

Kertz, a senior in the College of Agriculture from Bloomsdale, said the chapter is permitted to bestow honorary membership on one person of distinction once each ten years. Elmer Ellis, University president emeritus, received the honor in 1957.

Sen. Symington was nominated for honorary membership for his many contributions to agriculture. He was particularly cited for his active support, while a member of the Agriculture Committee, of such programs as REA, forestry, soil and conservation, flood control, and land grant appropriations.

Even though no longer on the Agriculture Committee, he is credited with continuing to be (Please turn to Page 4, Col. 2)

Russians Tighten Up On Border

Facing Serious Problems With Communist China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is toughening its defenses against Red China because of serious border problems between the two nations, reports Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Breaking a long tradition of silence on the Sino-Soviet dispute, the defense chief noted that "while an outbreak of hostilities between China and the Soviet Union does not appear probable at this time, the tension on the borders is likely to continue."

McNamara denied the Soviet Union as more "self-confident" and said this attitude is reflected in its open renewal of the ideological dispute with the Chinese.

"Although the Soviets have not succeeded in reading China out of the international Communist movement," he said, "only Albania among the ruling Communist parties still remains exclusively aligned with China."

The remarks came in McNamara's annual posture report to Congress, a long summation of the U. S. defense position given on the eve of congressional hearings on the administration's $72.3-billion defense budget. The 210-page McNamara document was made public Thursday night.

In it, McNamara again restated his case against deployment of a Nike X antimissile defense system and, in what amounted to a direct warning to the Soviet Union, said a further push in the arms race by the Soviets would be "dangerous and expensive."

To counter the possibility that current U. S.-Soviet arms negotiations break down, McNamara said the Pentagon now is "undertaking a very comprehensive study of a new strategic missile system."

He also revealed the United States expects to maintain a significant lead in intercontinental missiles over the Soviet Union until well into the 1970s, and again emphasized this nation's reliance on offensive weapons, and not defensive systems, to deter a nuclear war.

McNamara's comment on Red China took careful assessment of the recent upheavals. One result "has been a temporary reduction in Chinese interest in the outside world," he said.

On the other hand, McNamara warned, "there has been no diminution in their support of the Communist efforts in Vietnam and Thailand. And, they are still active in supporting 'Chinese' factions in the Communist movement in other parts of the world, in some cases, with military materiel."

He listed other top trouble spots as Burma, the Republic of China (Taiwan), and South Asia.

The defense chief also gave a reassessment of Red China's potential nuclear threat and concluded that despite a recent successful series of tests, "there has been no basic change in our estimates."

Sedalia Digs Out From Under Storm

AFTERMATH—These are some of the scenes around Sedalia Friday morning as residents dug out from under one of the worst ice-snow storms in years. At left, workmen shovel snow off the sidewalks around the Pettis County Courthouse. Snow shovels were the common weapons against the drifted white stuff throughout the city. Next photo shows some of the young generation, at home because some of the schools in the area were closed, enjoying the whole thing. Jesse Fischer and Billy Fischer, 1007 Leone, spent the morning enjoying their snow sleds. Evergreens were hard hit as the ice and snow collected on the fragile branches and bent them to the ground. In the next photo, George Wheatley, 318 South Engineer, uses a broom to loosen the snow and ice and give the branches on his evergreens a chance to raise their heads again. Sedalia Street Department personnel face the biggest clean-up job of all—clearing up the hundreds of limbs that fell to the streets during the storm. In the photo at right, a crew loads some of the debris onto a truck to be hauled away. Some workers estimated it will take about two weeks to finish the job. (Democrat-Capital photos)

WHAT IS A PROPER PRAYER?

Jesus warns us as we pray not to use vain repetitions. (Matt. 6:7) And we are not to pray just to be seen of men. (Matt. 6:6) Prayer is actually a conversation between you and God. And we know from God's word that he hears every prayer that is offered. And that he answers our prayers according to His will. Sincerity is, of course, the most important part of prayer. If you haven't been praying to God every day, why not decide right now to do so.

Envoy's Quartet At First Assembly Church

The Envoy's Quartet will give a special concert of religious songs, for the congregation and the public, at 7 o'clock Sunday evening at the First Assembly of God, Sixth and Summit.

This quartet headed by Ed Anderson, has traveled to Germany, France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Holland, and Luxembourg, conducting sacred music concerts. Six weeks of their tour were spent ministering among American servicemen in Germany and elsewhere.

The group consists of David Mercaldo, tenor; Chuck Meppe-link, baritone; Rich Anderson, lead; and Ed Anderson, bass. This is the second engagement for Sedalia. The Rev. Floyd T. Buntentbach is host pastor.

A month has gone by since Christmas and before the memory is put away with the seasonal ornaments, it is a time to remember certain Wise Men who came out of the East. These Magi have been so clothed in legend and so romanticized by pageantry that it is difficult to think of them as real men, following a real Messiah. We don't even know how many made the journey.

Some facts are known. They

brought gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. They had come many miles on a tedious journey. The little family had moved from a stable long since and had found a little house in Bethlehem. We know this. We know also that they would not have found Bethlehem and the stable had they not stopped in Jerusalem to consult with the prophets in Herod's household. There was a scurrying about among the old records and reading there the recounting of one who would be born in Bethlehem.

So the star was not of their imagining. Men have been known to put their own stars in the sky. History is filled with the exploits of men who followed some vagrant hope, some star that seemed to beckon.

Tyrants, despots, wild men have kept company with gentle poets and reflective philosophers as they tried to find a guiding principle which they often put in the sky and then followed.

"Starlight, star bright, first star I've seen tonight,
I wish I may, I wish I might."

And so the wish seemed to become a reality. Men often find it difficult to determine the real star.

Harry Emerson Fosdick once stated, "The radicals always seem to me to have decided that the stars had vanished because the old astronomy had gone. My own reaction has been the opposite. The old astronomy was wrong about something real and permanent. To get at the reality afresh, to see it again more clearly and more truly was the only solution in the end that counted for anything."

So if our maps are changing, there is no need to throw out the fact of the stars. If this is a time of renewal, when some of the old landmarks are mistrusted, it is not necessarily true that there is no sense to the journey. Just because we are out exploring the vastness of the universe does not cancel out the need to find a reason for existence in this vastness.

Antiquated astrology won't suffice for our time. Yet in their own way the Magi found their way to Bethlehem as certainly as the explorers in our ancestry located continents. And in that discovery we all have a common need, giving us a certain star to follow and a cause to command us. As the men of old, we need to know something — or someone — who gives reason and sense to our gold, our frankincense and our myrrh.

Impossible Goals Can End In Depression For People

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of people are in the dumps because they already have failed to live up to the noble New Year's resolves they made to change their lives for the better.

The trouble with most of them probably is that they set themselves impossible goals.

Instant reformation may be possible for saints but it is uncharacteristic of ordinary human beings. The first wise measure toward reformation isn't to make yourself any better — it's to keep yourself from getting any worse.

Instead of resolving what you will do, decide what you won't do. Be positive in a negative way.

For example, I decided it would be a better world for me in 1967 if I firmly made up my mind not to do the following things:

Stuff a whale and exhibit it on a cross-country tour.
Learn any modern dance step.
Bet against the Green Bay

Packers football team — even if I get 24 points.

Buy a race horse, an astrakhan hat, or a solid gold ear cleaner.

Drink dry martinis through a damp straw.

Attend any marijuana orgies.

Read any magazine articles on how one's sex life can be made more interesting, or how one can get rich by investing in the stock market or raising chinchillas in the basement.

Take up the study of Yoga or Zen Buddhism in order to discover the wisdom of the mysterious East.

Acquire any new diseases. The only sure way to stay healthy is to take care of the diseases you already have.

Run for congress — or a bus. Write any article saying dogs are superior to cats, or cats superior to dogs as pets.

Butterfield
Boys Tour
Whiteman AFB

On Jan. 22, boys from the Butterfield's Boy's Ranch were treated to a tour of the Whiteman Air Force Base. The tour was the combined efforts of the Air Force, Knights of Columbus, Whiteman NCO Club and Catholic Airmen of Whiteman.

Upon arrival to the air base, the boys, nine in number, were treated to dinner at the NCO Club. The club was the donor of the dinner.

After dinner, the boys were loaded on an Air Force bus and transported to a Minute-Man launch facility complex. They were given a tour of the weather station and flight tower. The highlights of the tour was a trip through a T-29 aircraft. This particular aircraft is the General's plane.

At the completion of the tour the boys were again treated to refreshments at the NCO Club.

Form Groups
For 'Decision'
Study Series

Thirteen groups are being formed to take part in the "Great Decisions—1967" study-discussion series, according to Mrs. Ted Smith, AAUW Steering Committee Chairman. In addition, Mrs. Smith reported that there are a number of interested persons who may organize groups by the February 5 starting date.

"Great Decisions" will focus public attention on eight foreign policy issues picked by experts as the most important to be faced by this country during 1967.

Mrs. Smith commented that "Great Decisions" discussion activity is educational and socially enjoyable. She explained that these groups set their own meeting times and places and that they can be organized by anyone.

Past experience has shown that no special educational background is necessary for participating in these "non expert" groups, she added. The primary objective of the program is to allow every citizen to inform himself and to express his opinions on foreign policy to Congress and the State Department.

Group organizers to date include: Mrs. Thelma Cook, Mr. and Mrs. John Zulauf, Mrs. Jack Cunningham, Mrs. John Tevis, Mrs. Donald Callis and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Doering, Mrs. Virgil Ellis, Mrs. Ted Smith and Mrs. Ralph Schulz, Mr. and Mrs. Gline Riekhof, Mrs. Keith Fulton, Mrs. Robert Quigg, Mr. Larry Melton, and the Rev. and Mrs. William Lusk.

For further information on the methods of setting up an informal discussion group or on the "Great Decisions" program in general, contact the University of Missouri Extension Center, TA 7-0591, or Mrs. Smith at TA 6-2735.

Accidents

Two persons were injured in a two-vehicle collision on the Heath Creek Bridge about 9 a.m. Thursday on north Highway 65, almost at the same spot where a fatal accident occurred several days ago.

Hospitalized in Thursday's mishap were Charles E. Bickert, 27, Englewood, Calif., who received a concussion, multiple lacerations of the face and mouth and an ankle injury; and Lynn Corine Anderson, 20, Bridgeton, Mo., who received a laceration on the right side of the head, an ankle injury and a possible concussion. The two were passengers in a vehicle driven by Willard Carver Hazlett, 30, Del Garden, Calif., who received a laceration of the forehead, a contusion of the left cheek and other multiple contusions.

Trooper Charles Pieper of the Missouri Highway Patrol reported Hazlett was driving a 1966 Volkswagen bus north on the highway. He said the Hazlett vehicle was in collision with a 1962 International tractor-trailer unit, driven south by Glenn Hershell McDonald, 37, Springfield.

Pieper said the Volkswagen left the roadway after the collision, going through the bridge railing at Heath Creek on the east side and north end of the bridge—almost the same spot where a Marshall, Mo., man was killed several days ago.

The Volkswagen came to a stop on the embankment and apparently did not go down to the creek level. The bus was listed as demolished, while only minor damage occurred to the tractor-trailer. icy conditions on the highway were held partly responsible for the accident.

Two persons escaped injury when a 1966 Chevrolet driven north on Highway 65 left the roadway about one and nine-tenths of a mile north of the junction of Routes D and J about 10:20 a.m. Thursday.

The car was driven by John Henry Emmel, 51, Charles City, Iowa, and was headed north when it apparently skidded on a slick spot on the highway. The car went into a ditch, but investigating officer Charles Pieper, Missouri Highway Patrol, said no damage was done.

Emmel was accompanied by his wife, Bernice Mary Emmel, 50, and both escaped injury.

A minor accident occurred at Tenth and Ingram at 3:28 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1961 Ford, driven north on Ingram by James D. Gitten, 30, 103 West S Saline, and a 1964 Chevrolet, driven west on Tenth by Arthur Carl Bethke, 54, 1013 East Sixth.

Damage occurred to the left front end of the Ford. There was no damage to the Chevrolet.

Slight damage occurred in an accident at Third and Lamine at 2:51 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1967 Chrysler, driven west on Third by Joseph Lamy, 18, 509 West Broadway, and a 1966 Volkswagen, driven west on Third by Earl A. Horton, 52, 1212 Maple Lane.

Damage resulted to the rear end of the Volkswagen. There was no damage to the Chrysler.

A two-car accident occurred at Broadway and Ruth Ann at 2:53 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1965 Pontiac, driven west on Broadway by Dennis Frisch, 17, Lincoln, and a 1965 Plymouth, driven west on Broadway by Delmer Gann, 41, 2707 West 11th.

Damage occurred to the front end of the Pontiac and to the rear of the Plymouth.

A two-vehicle accident occurred at 15th and Marvin at 3:21 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1962 Mercury, driven east on 15th by Judith Goff, 26, 643 East 15th, and a 1959 Dodge truck, driven north on Marvin by Kenneth Geiser, 28, 1413 East 14th.

Damage occurred to the left front end of the Mercury and there was no damage to the truck.

A minor accident occurred at 2601 East Broadway at 12:32 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1964 Chevrolet, owned by Frank Strain, and parked at that address, and a 1962 Corvair, driven east on Broadway by Marion E. Bass, 19, 812 East Tenth.

Damage occurred to the right side of the Chevrolet. There was no report of damage to the Corvair.

A one car accident occurred, according to the Highway Patrol, as David Joseph Thomas, 45, Belton, was driving his 1964 Ford south on Highway 65, when he hit a patch of ice on the pavement and lost control of his car. The car ran off the road and

Ann
Landers
Answers
Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine who is normally quiet—in fact, you might even say depressed—showed up at a party last week in very high spirits. I couldn't get over the change in her personality so I pulled her aside and asked what had come over her.

She swore me to secrecy, took a pill box out of her purse and showed me some capsules which she said had done wonders for her. I asked her what was in the capsules and she said she didn't know and didn't care. When I asked the name of the doctor who recommended them she replied, "I got these from my cleaning woman. I wouldn't say a word to my doctor because he might not approve and I'd be down in the dumps again."

I have never been one to take medicine. In fact, I'm one of those people who has to be dying before I will take an aspirin. I admit I am tempted to try these capsules just to see what they would do to me. Do you know anything about this sort of pepper-upper?—NEED A BOOST

Dear Need: No more than you do—which is nothing. But this I DO know, any woman who would let her cleaning lady prescribe medication is short a few buttons.

If you need a boost, go to your doctor. Perhaps you are not getting enough rest. Maybe your blood pressure is low, or you need more sugar or a thyroid check. Only a physician should decide.

People who get pepped up with capsules pay for it later. It's like racing a motor at top speed. It could shake you apart. The magic medicine you think is going to put a tiger in your tank could cause sleeplessness, se-

The executive committee used the meeting to express thanks to individuals and businesses who made contributions to the effort, which depends on donations and volunteer labor. Cited were Mrs. G. L. Curry, Leroy Van Dyke, famed country and western singer; and Frank Ervin, brother of Colle Ervin. Frank Ervin was named horseman of the year for 1966. Also words of appreciation were given to Paul Anthes, composer at the Sedalia Democrat-Capital, for his contribution of a hand-made replica of the Old Covered Bridge, and to the Sedalia Democrat for contributing funds in which to preserve the replica.

The group went on record favoring nomination of Frank Ervin to the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame, according to Scotten, a member of the historical group.

Besides these items, officers were re-elected. They are Jas. Denny, president; Vivian Warren, secretary; Herb Mason, treasurer; Karen Steele, assistant secretary; Cecil Owen, vice president; T. H. Yount and Prof. Scotten, curators.

Johnny Alonzo Highfill, Springfield, no chauffeur's license, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 plus cost.

Robert Edmund Porter, Peculiar, Mo., careless and imprudent driving pleaded guilty and was fined $25 plus cost.

Carl Schultz, Springfield, exceeding weight for which licensed, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 plus cost.

Leonard R. Poindexter, 509 North Lamine, expired license, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 plus cost.

Donald Gene Williams, Crestview Trailer Court, permitting an unauthorized operator to drive, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 plus cost.

vere heart palpitations, melancholia—or worse. Forget it.

Dear Ann Landers: I read the letter from "Another Wall Street Warrior's Wife"—only she lives in Winnetka. Her husband probably works on LaSalle Street. I live in Winnetka, too, and the words that woman used to describe her life apply to me straight across the board. Before you say "So What,—they probably apply to a thousand other women." I would like to make it clear that I am not a woman,—I am a husband and father. And if anyone had told me I would wind up writing to Ann Landers, and a serious letter at that, I would have said he was insane.

But here I am because I want you to know that I, too, would gladly exchange the big house, the cars in the garage and the country club membership for a wife who would attend church with me and the children and show some interest in our home. As far as sex is concerned, that went dead years ago in the dry martini. —ALSO DISENCHANTED.

Dear Also: Thanks for your letter. It is a grim reminder that disenchantment in marriage knows no gender.

Dear Ann Landers: Two weeks ago my father told my brother and me that our job was to empty the trash every day after school. He said if it wasn't done by the time he got home we'd each have to pay him a quarter. Last night we forgot and Dad made us hand over the money. Then he said, "O.K. now go empty the trash." We told him that since he had collected the quarter HE should do it.

Are we right?—BROKE AND OVERWORKED.

Dear B and O: No. Emptying the trash is YOUR job and your father was collecting his own quarters. The penalty you guys paid was a fine for failing to live up to your responsibilities.

Incomprehensible Budget

For anyone but a statistician or an economist making sense of the national budget seems a hopeless task.

Even the professionals can become confused in trying to keep the cash budget separate from the administrative budget, both of which are distinct from something called the national income accounts budget — and all of which are so qualified by a long list of ifs and buts involving the whims of the economy and the will of Congress that a miscalculation here or a misplaced optimism there can make a difference on the order of billions of dollars between what is projected for a particular fiscal year and what the final bookkeeping entry shows.

To the average person, anything that is expressed in terms of billions or tens of billions of dollars is about as removed from his everyday experience as the mathematicians' square root of minus one.

It is a little difficult to believe that the vast bulk of all these billions — $135 billion, to be exact, which the President is asking for the 1968 fiscal year beginning July 1—is merely the sum of the tens and hundreds and thousands of dollars kicked in by the ordinary taxpayer.

One item in the budget looms out startlingly. For the war in Vietnam, a war never officially declared, the President is asking $22.4 billion.

This translates into $700 for each of the 32 million men, women and children in both North and South Vietnam. It comes on top of the nearly $25 billion or nearly $800 per Vietnamese — that will have been spent from the beginning of American aid until the end of fiscal 1967.

Yet even this sum earmarked for Vietnam represents less than a third of the total—$73.1 billion—asked for national defense.

By contrast, the President's request for $11 billion for Great Society programs (over and above $14.6 billion in Social Security and Medicare payments) breaks down to about $355 for each of the 31 million Americans said to be living in poverty.

So vast is the American economy, however, that compared to it even the imagination-staggering federal budget begins to appear manageable. The Gross National Product for 1965 — the total worth of goods and services produced by the nation that year — was more than $681 billion. It is currently edging up towards three-quarters of a trillion dollars.

We speak of guns and butter. But few of us comprehend just how many guns, or how much butter, we are talking about.

Where Jackie Kennedy Used to Live

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — In Georgetown, people still walk along "N" Street and pick ivy from the slope in front of the house where Jackie Kennedy used to live. A lot of famous people live on that street. Across the way is the house of Abraham Lincoln's son Todd, who founded the Pullman Car Company. Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen lives in the Lincoln house today.

Next door is the home of Stanley Woodward, who used to be Ambassador to Canada and chief protocol officer for the White House. A few doors away is the home of Ambassador Averell Harriman, former governor of New York and former Secretary of Commerce.

The house in front of which the people pull the ivy used to be the home of Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in the Wilson cabinet. Michael Straight, author and editor, lives there now. But the people who walk by are not interested in the famous men who once lived in the house or who lives there now. They are interested only in the fact that Jackie Kennedy lived there.

And, for most of them, Queen Jacqueline still sits on her throne, the nearest to American royalty this country has ever seen, and perhaps ever will see.

When they read the book "The Death of a President," they ask a lot of questions. One question is, why did Jackie let herself pour her heart out for ten hours to William Manchester and his tape recorder — to a man she did not really know well? Why didn't she get advice from a friend?

One answer is that Jackie has had almost no women friends. Her closest friend, her half sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, doesn't understand politics and was in no position to advise her. Her mother, who does understand, hasn't had much influence with Jackie in recent years.

Jackie's closest friend and adviser is her brother-in-law, Bobby Kennedy, with whom she has taken many skiing and yachting trips. But they both figured they had signed a contract with a man they could control. As Jackie wrote to Jim Bishop when he wanted to write a book on the assassination, "I hired Manchester." And having "hired" him, she expected to control him.

Hoffa Troubles May Create Explosion

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has had his trials and troubles but he has just cooked up something new which might cause an explosion.

The best way to follow the story is step by step.

In 1962 Hoffa won a mistrial in federal court in Tennessee on a charge of illegally accepting more than $1 million from a trucking firm. This wasn't the end of it. Then he was charged with tampering with the jury which freed him.

In 1964 he was tried and convicted on this charge in federal court in Chattanooga and given an 8-year sentence. He appealed this to the Supreme Court which on Dec. 12, 1966 upheld his conviction.

But just about then New York's Democratic Sen. Robert F. Kennedy — who had been attorney general at the time of Hoffa's two trials and conviction — got into a hassle with J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI.

They were in an argument over who had authorized — while Kennedy was attorney general — the use of wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping, or "bugging." Hoover said Kennedy did. Kennedy said this was untrue.

On Dec. 15 — three days after the Supreme Court had turned down Hoffa and in the midst of the Kennedy-Hoover dispute — William Loeb, publisher of the Union-Leader newspaper in Manchester, N.H., offered a $100,000 reward.

This was for proof of the use of wiretapping or eavesdropping by the federal government before or during Hoffa's court troubles in Tennessee.

Court records at Hillsboro County registry of deeds in Nashua, N.H., show Hoffa's union pension fund loaned Loeb's newspaper $2 million in June, 1965, with a mortgage on the plant and equipment as security.

Loeb, offering the reward, said his newspaper "believes that in a large part the prosecution of Mr. Hoffa was motivated by personal spite by the then Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, who now, in the opinion of this newspaper, stands revealed through the testimony of J. Edgar Hoover as one of the greatest wiretappers of all time."

Now, in an affidavit revealed Thursday, Loeb says that on Dec. 20, five days after denouncing Kennedy and offering the reward, he had a conversation with an assistant to Hoover, Cartha D. DeLoach.

Loeb says DeLoach suggested to him that he tell Hoffa's lawyers that their best bet would be to "ask the Department of Justice (which Kennedy left in 1964) to conduct an investigation of wiretapping in connection with the various Hoffa trials."

DeLoach told him, Loeb says, he felt sure an investigation would turn up "extensive evidence" of wiretapping in connection with Hoffa's trials.

Further, Loeb says, DeLoach told him he would deny he had ever talked to Loeb about the matter if Loeb attempted to publish "this information."

There seems no doubt Loeb talked it over with Hoffa's lawyers because Thursday his affidavit, swearing he had told the truth about DeLoach, appeared in a brief Hoffa's lawyers filed with the Supreme Court, asking it to reconsider its decision against him last December.

Hoffa told the court he and two of his attorneys were subjected to eavesdropping and wiretapping during his 1964 jury-tampering trial. And he identified the wiretapper as Benjamin David Nichols, saying the latter had operated under the supervision of Walter Sheridan, a special consultant at the time to then attorney general, Kennedy.

Nichols gave a similar account of the alleged tapping in an affidavit of his own in the Hoffa brief. Justice Department and FBI spokesmen declined comment, saying they did so because the case was before the court, Kennedy, in Europe, was unavailable for comment.

This month, for the 10th time, the Justice Department admitted it had engaged in electronic eavesdropping, although it hasn't admitted that about Hoffa.

We don't approve of North's bid of three spades. We don't like to raise a partner with two small trumps even after he has rebid his suit. In this instance South had overcalled with one spade and raised two diamonds to three, thus North had no reason to expect his partner to hold a six-card suit.

Perhaps South should have passed three spades but this was the next to the last round of the American team trials and no one was hanging one trick short of game.

In any event, a stop below game would have been a losing action. Two North-South pairs climbed to three no-trump and had no trouble making an over-trick because everything broke well for them.

Dummy's ace of hearts won the opening lead and a spade was led. Edgar Kaplan, sitting East, ducked. South won and led a diamond to dummy's queen. Edgar ducked again. He saw no reason to take his aces in great hurry. However, when a second trump was led from dummy Edgar rose with his ace.

As in any good partnership, Edgar had been watching Norman Kay's low card plays. Norman had dropped the eight of spades on the first trump lead and the four spot on the second. This trump echo shows three trumps. With only two trumps, Norman would have played the four spot the first time.

Therefore Edgar played the ace and another diamond for Norman to ruff.

This left the defense with three tricks in and poor South had nothing to do but ruff a heart when Norman led one, and go after clubs. The queen dropped for him but Norman took the setting trick with the ten.

Checking Ailments Related to Anemia

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — I am anemic but when I was in the hospital recently I was not allowed to eat liver. What could be the reason for this?

A — Liver is of value chiefly in the treatment of pernicious anemia. It is of limited value in other forms of the disease and even in pernicious anemia it has been largely replaced by injections of vitamin B-12. The reason for not allowing liver in your diet might be a tendency toward gout.

Q — What is the treatment of aplastic anemia?

A — In aplastic anemia the low red blood cell count is caused by a failure of the marrow to produce new red cells fast enough to replace those that wear out. Iron preparations are given to stimulate red cell production. Severe cases require transfusions. Cure is possible only if the cause — leukemia, bone marrow tumors or diseases of the spleen — can be found and removed.

Q — What is hypochromic anemia? Can it be cured?

A — In hypochromic anemia the red blood cells are smaller and fewer than normal and lacking in normal iron content. It can be cured by supplying iron and by finding and checking the source of the chronic blood loss, such as bleeding piles or stomach or intestinal bleeding due to large daily doses of aspirin or other causes.

Q — My son and daughter, both past 20, have hereditary spherocytosis which causes them to have hemolytic anemia. What causes this and what is the treatment?

A — Hereditary spherocytosis or hemolytic jaundice is characterized by the prevalence in the blood of spherocytes (a form of abnormal red blood cells), the destruction of red cells and enlarged spleen. The best results are obtained by removal of the spleen.

Q — For the past year I have had spells of heart fibrillation that last from two to four hours. Yawning or stretching may trigger an attack. I am taking quinidine for it. What is the cause? Is it serious?

A — Fibrillation (rapid ineffectual contractions of the auricles) may be due to an overactive thyroid, rheumatic heart disease or coronary artery disease — all potentially serious conditions. Quinidine is an old standby that is still widely used. In addition to treating the cause, an electric pacemaker may be advisable.

Q — What is meant by syncope on an arteriosclerotic basis?

A — Fainting due to hardening of the arteries.

Emergency Data to Aid Victims In Auto Wreck

By Polly Cramer

Polly started me thinking about the

DEAR POLLY—It has been suggested that I write to you regarding a safety measure we have adopted for our family. Having seen five people killed in three accidents on the highways. We have taped a buff-colored envelope to the lower left hand side of the car's rear window (where many cars display emblems of places they have visited). We typed "Emergency Information Enclosed" on the envelope. It is readable from the outside of the window.

In the envelope is a sheet of paper which gives our names, ages, blood types, nearest of kin, doctor, minister and all necessary addresses and telephone numbers, as well as our job phones. In case of an accident and inability of injured persons to give such information, the authorities would have it right at hand. This gives us greater peace of mind as we know that regardless of the seriousness of an accident our loved ones could be summoned immediately and medical help might be given enroute to the hospital if necessary.

We feel it would be wonderful if automobile manufacturers would provide a standard place in or on automobiles where such information could be kept. We chose the rear of the car as we thought this part is more often left fairly intact after an accident. We trust this information will never have to be used, but if it must we will feel better for having taken this precaution.

paid tax last year on his Social Security benefits. Is it too late to do anything about it?

A—No. Security benefits are not taxable and your father is entitled to a refund on the tax he paid on them. This can be done by filing a claim for refund on Form 843 or by filing an amended return.

To file an amended return, use a Form 1040 and write "amended" across the top. Then fill in the return as it should have been and recompute the tax liability.

Buckpasser Is Back; High On Probable Winner List

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Buckpasser, apparently recovered from a hoof ailment, was very much back in the picture today on the eve of the $100,000 Charles H. Strub Stakes at Santa Anita Saturday.

Famed as the only horse in thoroughbred history to attain status as a millionaire at the age of 3, Buckpasser was one of 14 formally entered in the 1 1/4 feature, a race restricted to 4-year-olds.

Trainer Eddie Neloy kept a close watch on Buckpasser today after announcing the day before that the colt had responded to treatment for the quarter crack in his front forefoot.

Neloy said he was almost 100 per cent sure Buckpasser would run.

Arrayed against the star of the Ogden M. Phipps are some of the 4-year-old colts whom he whipped in the 1 1/4 mile San Fernando Stakes Jan. 14.

They were Fleet Host, Pretense, Drin and Fleet Shoe. Others entered in the Strub were Fleet Discovery, Hill Clown, Rehabilitation, Bright Monarch, Vague Image, Quick-en Tree, Road Hog, Model Fool and Kings Favor.

Buckpasser, packing the maximum high weight of 126 pounds under conditions of the race, will be favored to run his 15th straight triumph.

The last two were registered at Santa Anita, starting with the Malibu Stakes Dec. 31 at seven furlongs.

Buckpasser, with Braulio Baeza, his regular jockey, aboard, gave his backers a scare in the Malibu, coming from behind to beat out Drin by three-quarters of a length, and Kings Favor third.

But as his trainer says, Buckpasser never wins the easy way. "He's inclined to loaf in the early stages."

Thus far Buckpasser has loafed to 23 victories in 26 starts, with two seconds, and has amassed a bankroll of $1,271,224.

Stupendous, a stablemate of Buckpasser carrying the Wheatley Stable silks, heads the probable field for the 11-16 miles on the grass of the $25,000-added Palm Beach Handicap at Hialeah Park.

The 4-year-old son of Bold Ruler never has even worked on the grass but Neloy said, "We'll get the answer on how he fares over the grass when he meets the best of the turf horses." If he does well, Stupendous may go in the 13-16 miles of the Bougainvillea Feb. 11 and the

1 1/4 miles of the Hialeah Turf Cup Feb. 25.

Bowie will present the first major stake of the year for 3-year-old fillies in the first running of the six furlongs of the $20,000-added Patricia A. Recall, winner of her last four races, is likely to be the favorite in this her first start in a stakes.

The Fair Grounds will feature the 11-16 miles of the $12,500-added Louisiana Handicap with Eladio the probable choice.

The 1967 New England season gets underway at Lincoln the $5,000 Inaugural Handicap Downs with the five-furlongs of day meeting.

Sandy Knows Facts

Cold Realism For Arthritis Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax is as coldly realistic facing arthritis as he was facing Willie Mays in the batter's box. He knows the arthritis will get worse. He knew Willie Mays could hit home runs.

"The joint of my left arm is pitted. You can look at the X rays. The arthritis is not going away. It's here. Maybe if I don't pitch I won't lose the movement of the arm until I'm 50 or older. If I do pitch maybe I'll lose it in two years."

Koufax is now 31. Last November at the very height of a sensational career he retired as a Los Angeles Dodger after making a reported $125,000 salary in 1966 and took a job as an announcer with the National Broadcasting Company at $100,000 or so.

Over 12 years in the majors he won 165 games, lost 87, for an average of .655, and had 2,396 strikeouts, only 189 short of the National League career record held by Warren Spahn. He was the league's Most Valuable Player in 1963, and won the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the majors in 1963, 1965, and 1966 — the only man to win it more than once.

Now that he is not pitching, says Koufax, "It is not going to hurt as much. But the condition is going to get worse. I only hope it will take longer to get worse. As you get older the joint deteriorates more, and there is more pain and less movement."

"Anything that you do constantly provides pressure on a joint. That's why I quit pitching. I'm confining my sports now to things that don't aggravate my left arm. Fortunately I can still play golf. But if I try to lift a heavy object with my left arm I know about it for the next four or five days.

"I've been offered lots of cures, but if there were any cures there wouldn't be any arthritis."

Koufax is a natural as a sportscaster. He speaks easily and with confidence. He gives the impression of a thoughtful, educated man. In fact he attended the University of Cincinnati. Despite his new job he does not plan any elocution lessons.

"I hope what I learned over the last 12 years has prepared me," said baseball's greatest left-hander.

Louisville's Teams Have Chance To Gain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louisville's Missouri Valley basketball leaders have a prime chance to gain ground on the other contenders Saturday as the Valley race heats up again with a full four-game schedule.

Louisville, the nation's No. 4 team, will stake its 4-1 league record against Bradley, 3-3, at Louisville.

Second-place Wichita, 3-1, plays third-place Tulsa, 2-1, at Tulsa, and defending champ Cincinnati, hanging in the title picture at 3-2, has a tough assignment on the road at St. Louis, 1-4.

St. Louis is itching for revenge for a recent loss at Cincy and traditionally comes strong in the second semester. Three St. Louis defeats were on the road.

In the other Valley game, Drake, 1-3, plays at North Texas, also 1-3, in the weekly afternoon television game.

Only two games have been played this week, both non-conference contests, with Cincy beating Centenary (La.) 100-76 and Bradley whipping St. Thomas (Minn.) 103-78. That made the Valley's record against outside foes 61-23 for a .726 winning percentage.

Nothing Known Of China Leaders In This Rebellion

TOKYO (AP) — The forces resisting Mao Tse-tung in Red China's power struggle go under such names as "Human Red Terror Corps," "Red Flag Army" and "Red Regime Guard Corps."

They have been denounced by name by Premier Chou En-lai as reactionary. But nothing is known outside China of their leaders, their strength and organization or whether liaison exists among them.

Also named as anti-Mao are "The Workers Red Militia Detachment" and "Peasants Red Militia Detachment," organizations of workers in factories and farm communes who have clashed with pro-Mao forces. They may have considerable strength, in view of the denunciations heaped upon them.

President Liu Shao-chi and party General Secretary Teng Hsiao-ping have been charged by Maoists as the leaders of the opposition. But whether they are in a position to direct the anti-Mao forces is a mystery.

Their whereabouts are secret, although a Maoist wall poster claimed Teng tried to commit suicide and was in a hospital.

Their influence, however, has been estimated to be far-reaching among Communist officials throughout the country. But the anti-Mao forces have no known central headquarters or base.

What reports from China have indicated, including official admissions, is that in the provinces these anti-Mao groups were the majority.

Who else is ranged against Mao, or classed as that "handful of people within the party in authority who took the road of capitalism?"

The chief men who have been officially identified as Mao's enemies, or denounced so often by Red Guards that there can be no doubt this has official sanction, make an impressive list.

Besides Liu and Teng they include:

Peng Chen — former Peking mayor and Politburo member, unofficially reported killed.

Lo Jui-ching — former vice premier and army chief of staff, unofficially reported a suicide.

Ho Lung — marshal, senior military leader, once reported arrested.

Lu Ting-i — vice premier, culture minister and party propaganda chief, dismissed last summer.

Peng Teh-huai — marshal, defense minister sacked in 1959. Red Guards recently claimed he was arrested.

Tao Chu — former No. 4 man in the party and propaganda chief, whereabouts unknown.

Chen Yun — senior vice premier and economic expert, whereabouts unknown.

Po I-po — vice premier, chairman of state economic commission, unofficially reported a suicide.

Chu Teh — grand old man of red army, chairman of standing committee of national people's congress, presumably living in Peking.

Yang Shang-kun — director of the general office of the Politburo, unofficially reported tried suicide.

Liu Shi-chiang — general, chairman of army's cultural revolution group, sacked and replaced.

Ulanfu — political and military boss of Inner Mongolia and vice premier, disappeared from Peking last year.

The list of key men in Mao's camp, by comparison, is a short one. His "inner cabinet," as best could be ascertained by official Peking news outlets, is made up of:

Defense Minister Lin Piao, Mrs. Mao, cultural purge group chief Chen Po-ta, Politburo member Kang Sheng and Marshal Yeh Chien-ying. In addition, Premier Chou who appears to be a force by himself, has been publicly on Mao's side.

Mao's three main forces are:

1. The 2.5 million peoples liberation army — which may not be fully united under Lin Piao's command.

2. The fanatic youthful Red Guards, made up of selected students. Its main strength appears to be in Peking. Mao reviewed some 12 million Red Guards last year.

3. The "revolutionary rebel" groups, made up of workers, peasants, students, functionaries. But as in the case of the anti-Mao forces, their strength is unknown — a "revolutionary rebel" group might be a handful of Maoists within a factory, a newspaper, or even a military department.

Various Ills Reported By 3 Players

NEW YORK (AP) — There was smoke in Kerry O'Brien's eyes, Novocain in Bob Seagren's back and an elbow in Dave Patrick's ribs.

O'Brien, the Australian distance runner, and Patrick, the collegiate mile champion from Villanova, managed to overcome their handicaps at the Millrose Games Thursday night. But Seagren, who threatens his own indoor pole vault record of 17-1 victory every time he steps out on the runway, ended up a little frustrated.

The 19-year-old University of South California record-holder had to settle for a best vault of 16-7, which was still good enough to set a Madison Square Garden record.

Seagren arrived late and in a hurry through his warmups, pulled a muscle and had to submit to a shot of Novocain in the dressing room.

"It's really not an excuse," said Seagren. "I should be able to do 17-2 with my eyes closed."

For O'Brien, however, the meet was far more encouraging. The 20-year-old resident of Adelaide arrived in New York Tuesday and not until he stepped up to the start of the two-mile, had he ever so much as seen a board track.

Countryman Tony Benson, whose baptism on the boards in Boston earlier this month was frustrating, warned O'Brien what he might be in for. But with 2 1/4 laps left in the race, O'Brien ran away from Benson and the rest of the field, winning in 8:36.6, a Millrose record.

As for Patrick, he survived a bad start in the mile in which somebody emplaced an elbow in his ribs and, after a false start was called, came off the blocks the second time and set a meet record for the mile with a 4:03.7.

"I didn't think they would recall the race," the NCAA outdoor mile champ said. "I was just getting off my feet and getting up to run again when the gun sounded."

Patrick ran away from Dave Bailey of Toronto at the three-quarter mark and went on to win in his fastest indoor time by far, though he has done 4:02.1 outdoors.

Mota Is Set For Another Big Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Free-swinging Manny Mota, the No. 2 man in baseball's No. 1 platoon, is set for another assault against National League pitchers.

Mota, who hit .332 for Pittsburgh last season while sharing center field with NL batting king Matty Alou, returned his signed 1967 contract to the Pirates Thursday.

The 28-year-old Dominican appeared in 116 games, rapped five homers and drove in 46 runs for the Pirates. He led the league in batting for most of the season but did not compile enough at-bats to qualify for the title, won by Alou with a .342 mark.

Then, playing in the Dominican Winter League, Mota hit .360 but finished three points behind Alou in the batting race after leading the pack until the next-to-last week.

While Mota and pitcher Steve Blass signed with Pittsburgh, veteran first baseman Norm Cash joined the Detroit Tigers' fold for a reported $43,000 and 20-year-old Jim (Catfish) Hunter, one of Kansas City's pitching prodigies, agreed to terms and received a "good raise."

Cash, 32, smacked 32 homers and knocked in 93 runs while batting .279 for the Tigers last year. His best output since he won the American League batting championship with a .361 average in 1961 earned Cash an estimated $11,000 pay hike. Only outfielder Al Kaline, reportedly earning $55,000, is better paid at Detroit.

"When you look around the league, who's better than Cash?" said a Tigers' spokesman. "He hits and he fields his position as well as anybody."

Hunter, a $75,000 bonus baby three years ago, compiled a 9-11 record and a 4.02 earned run average in 30 appearances last season, despite being sidelined by an appendectomy for six weeks.

"Hunter is one of the best young right-handers in the majors right now and has made marked improvement," said A's Executive Vice President Ed Lopat.

Village Work Delayed

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Work on the new Olympic Village has been delayed because ground breaking has proved more difficult than expected in the lava bed area south of the Olympic Stadium.

Says Yankees Still Have A Lot Of Pride

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Ralph Houk says his New York Yankees "still have a lot of pride and we are going to surprise a lot of critics this season."

Houk told the Boston baseball writers' dinner Thursday night that "if you invite me to your dinner next year I'll not show up as a 10th place manager."

The only-mighty Yankees finished in the cellar of the American League last season, but Houk pointed out that 38 games were lost by one run.

"When you lose that many games by that margin, he said, 'there is not much to rectify to win at least half of such games.'"

He said the Yankees will switch Mickey Mantle from the outfield to first base in hopes that he will be able to play more often and "provide us a bigger advantage in those one-run games."

"If the switch embarrasses him in any way," Houk said, "he won't play first base. It will be up to him. He's too great a player to have anything go wrong at this stage of his career."

Says Dizzy Will Decide Soon On Political Move

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A friend of Dizzy Dean says that the former baseball great will decide by the middle of March whether to run for governor of Mississippi.

Thomas Turner of Belzoni told a news conference here Thursday that Dean would return to his home near Wiggins by the first of March and would make a decision soon after that.

Dean and his wife have been living in Phoenix, Ariz., on a doctor's recommendation. She suffered a series of heart attacks, the latest in July.

He has been mentioned prominently as a possibility, but Turner's announcement was the closest yet to first-hand word. Turner said Dean authorized him to make the announcement.

Dean, 56, became famous during the 1930s as a pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, then had a second career as a sports broadcaster after he retired from playing.

Turner said Dean's decision would depend on his wife's health and public reception to the idea. He also must make the basic decision of whether he wants to go into politics, Turner said.

Nicklaus Is Surprised By Scores

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, looked at the scoreboard which showed an enormous amount of par wreckage in first round of the $100,000

Los Angeles Open Golf tournament, shook his head and said: "Sure I'm surprised. I didn't expect so many low scores."

Thirty-eight professionals fractured par 71 and went back to work on it again in the second round Friday.

The pros had a picnic over the Rancho Municipal course after last week's struggle against the Pebble Beach layout in the Bing Crosby tourney.

"Here you've got a chance to scramble," volunteered Nicklaus. "At Pebble if you gamble you wind up in the ocean."

Golfers generally decline to criticize a course, but Jackie Cupit, the leader going into the second round, did approach the matter indirectly.

"I don't know what it is about the course," said the young pro from Longview, Tex., "but I'm trying to make myself like it."

Cupit, who admittedly has never scored well at Rancho and usually hits better competitive form later in the year, had a 33-33-66, five shots under par.

World Expresses Interest In China's Internal Fight

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The outcome of the slugging match between contending forces in Red China is a matter of tremendous concern for the rest of the world.

What will it mean for the future of Chinese-Soviet relations, now at their ebb? What impact will it have on China's march toward status as a full-fledged nuclear power? What will it mean to the Chinese people and their economy? Is China facing a new economic disaster because of the profound upheaval now in progress?

All these questions and many more are involved in the struggle, but the answers can be little more than speculation.

There is always a possibility, for example, that China would make some sort of peace with the Soviet Union if the forces of Mao Tse-tung and Defense Minister Lin Biao lose the battle. All the so-called "revisionists" in China are in the other camp.

The Russians aren't betting on that, however. Their comments on the China scene leave the impression that they have little expectation of a victory by any pro-Soviet faction.

There is a possibility, too, that a Chinese leadership in a death struggle to maintain itself might be prompted to take some sort of adventurous course as a desperate measure to attempt to unify the country. This could take the form of a military feint toward India or involvement in Vietnam.

Clearly, the Russians are worried about this, and display the worry frequently in their press comments on the China struggle.

The struggle has been going on for years. What is happening now is only a new — though probably decisive — phase of it. Meanwhile, it has failed to impede China's march to membership in the nuclear club, which she now claims by virtue of five explosions, including one which married a nuclear warhead to a missile and brought China's neighbors within range. Although scientists are required to be indoctrinated Communists in China, both sides in the struggle have had a tendency to seal them off from the political wars of Peking, to permit them to concentrate on their job of pushing China toward the rank of major power.

Some impact of the struggle may yet be felt in Vietnam, since China is one of the two chief sources of help for North Vietnam and the Communist cause in the south. Disruption of the Chinese economy can mean also disruption in the flow of supplies to Hanoi.

Another result could be a lessening of direct Chinese pressure on Hanoi to fight to the last Vietnamese. Preoccupied with its internal struggle, Peking is in no position to be preoccupied with Vietnam, and this could leave Hanoi some leeway should it want to respond to a peace overture.

The most serious consequences of the struggle are likely to show up in the Chinese economy, already weak and austere. China is a nation of 750 million, growing at the rate of 15 million a year. A half billion are peasants. Food already is short and rationed. Living standards are low.

Now the "great proletarian cultural revolution," by which Mao evidently intends to secure his place in the pantheon of Communist gods and insure against a new generation straying from the orthodox path, has reached to the hinterland peasants. This is dangerous for China if it interferes with spring sowing and the next crops.

But serious damage must already have been done, if even part of the reports from inside China are true.

There are elements in China who evidently feel that the nation should pull in its horns, become less bellicose and pay more attention to the internal economy. They see a prospect only of long, bitter years of hardship for the whole people under present policies.

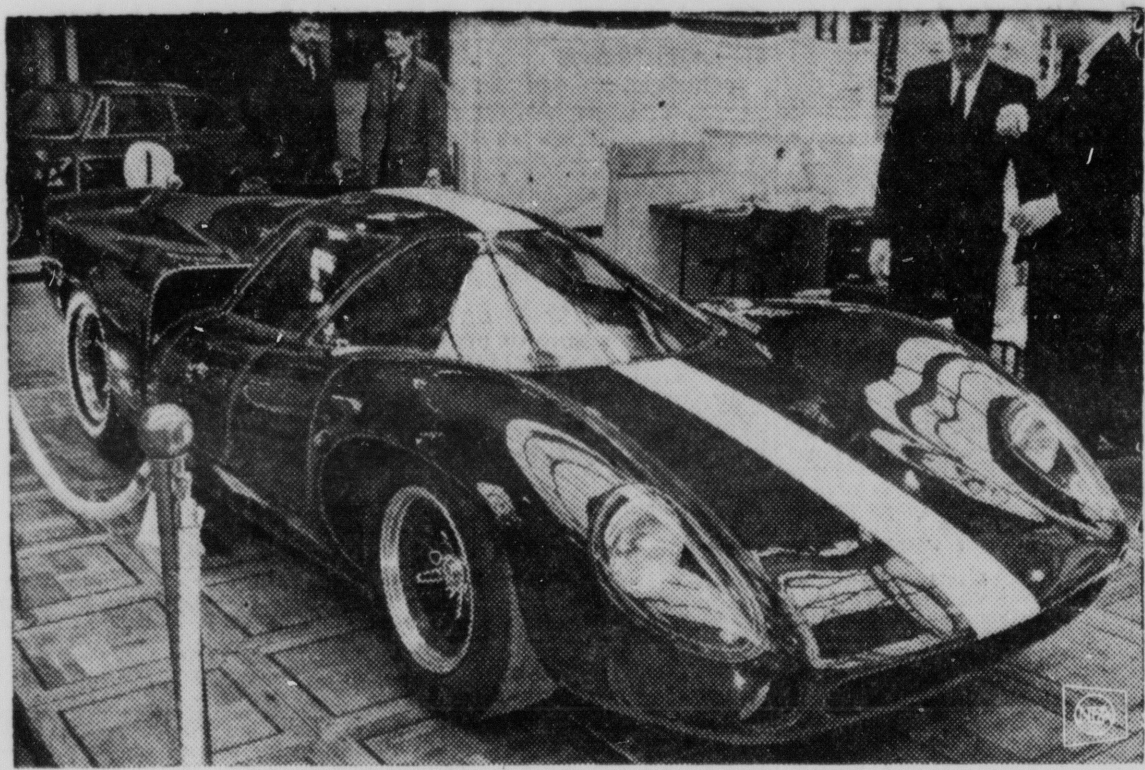

This might mean, should that side prevail, some sort of reconciliation with Moscow, although in any case it likely would be an uneasy one.

Nevertheless, by all the signs coming out of Moscow, the Soviet Communist party is preparing its own rank and file for a long struggle against Peking policies.

The Soviet Union is not alone in its worries about what the Chinese "great cultural revolution" may produce in the future. Nations on China's border and elsewhere watch in fascinated awe as the spectacle of the great upheaval unfolds.

It could lead in almost any direction. That is the danger.

RACY AUTO is the new Lola Type 70 MK-111, unveiled at the racing car show in London recently. The 200-m.p.h. car is the brainchild of Eric Broadley, whose firm at Slough, England, built the Lola-Ford Graham Hill drove to victory in last year's Indianapolis 500. The Lola's engine is fully enclosed and a rear window gives full vision at the back of the sunken center to comply with new regulations.

May Go Slow On Safety Proposal

DETROIT (AP) — William Haddon Jr., U. S. traffic safety administrator, reportedly has given American and foreign car makers a broad hint that he will go slow on his proposed 23 auto-safety standards.

Dr. Haddon held separate, closed-door sessions Wednesday with the foreign and domestic car makers in Washington just a few days before the scheduled Jan. 31 announcement of binding standards for 1968 model cars.

The federal government disclosed no details of the sessions but various industry sources provided bits of information about Haddon's first head-to-head confrontation with auto companies which had been critical of the content and timing of some of the proposals.

State Department representatives reportedly sat in on the two-hour foreign car session at which Haddon pledged that he had no intention of trying to drive imports out of the U. S. market.

Several foreign companies had made representations through their governments that the proposed standards were discriminatory against their particular cars.

The import session, attended by more than 50 executives of 20 foreign companies, drew from Haddon a major concession of additional time for foreign auto makers to comment on the standards he is scheduled to publish next Tuesday. Conceivably, Haddon could order changes in the standards if any objections to the rules were strong enough. But this was considered unlikely.

Originally, Haddon had said he would give them 10 days for comments, after his official version is published. But he told the session that he had extended that time to 31 days. That makes the deadline March 3.

Under Haddon's ground rules, manufacturers were not allowed to bring up objections to any specific proposal he had made. This caused some discontent on the part of the foreign car makers.

Automotive Industry Acts Confident To Spur Sales

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a heavyweight who insists he hasn't been hurt, some automotive industry spokesmen continue to talk big but lose rounds.

Confidence, for psychological purposes, is a posture necessary to encourage sales.

No amount of talk, however, can overcome some presently harsh facts. Car sales are down 15 to 20 per cent from last year. Twenty thousand workers face layoffs. Production is being cut back.

Even if the decline for the entire year is kept to 5 per cent it will mean that domestic car sales will drop close to or even below eight million, a figure most people in Detroit didn't expect to see again.

Last year's early sales figures were distorted by a temporary surge of buying. Relatively then, this year's decline is exaggerated. Forget the relative figures, though, and sales still are disappointing. This can be demonstrated.

In January 1966, Ford Motor saw the possibility of a 10-million-car year. The actual total came to 8.4 million. As late as December 1966 some Chrysler executives thought a nine-million-car year was possible for 1967.

Official forecasts for 1967 by the industry's leaders showed domestic car sales were expected to be about 8.5 million to 8.7 million. It is unlikely now that this can be reached.

Detroit is suffering from confusion over safety standards, consumer caution, high living costs, a still tight credit situation. Serious layoffs just before labor contract talks won't help either.

For 10 straight months now sales have been lower than in comparable months a year earlier.

The first big test comes in April, generally the beginning of the spring buying season. Some analysts feel that if April sales fail to top those of April 1966, it will portend lower sales for much of the model year.

The next test comes when the 1968 model cars are introduced this fall. By this time, the industry hopes, a tremendous pent-up demand will be ready to absorb whatever Detroit can produce — barring an economic downturn.

The safety issue should be lessened by then, and thus no longer so serious a restraint on sales. In addition, some of the European cars that made big inroads in 1966 may find it difficult to meet the new safety standards.

A surge in buying could offset some of the early sales decline. But it seems unlikely now that it can make up for all of it.

Fearful Year Over

TOKYO (AP) — The fearful "year of the fiery horse" is over in Japan, where officials predict 1967 will be a busy year for the maternity wards. According to Japanese tradition, women born in "fiery horse" years — which come once every 60 years — end up devouring their husbands. Girls born in such years haven't found husbands easily, and the welfare ministry says births dropped by half a million last year.

Training Center Budget Before House Committee

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Training Center for Men presented a budget of $1,369,123 to a meeting Wednesday in Moberly of the Appropriations Committee of the Missouri House.

The budget for the year starting July 1 projects expansion plans for the medium security prison from 634 inmates to an estimated 900 by the end of 1968. The current budget includes $1.99 million for a new housing unit to be completed by April of 1968 for 300 inmates.

The 1967-68 budget reflects plans that prison authorities have to keep the additional prisoners busy. Provided for are an $84,000 metal factory and an $89,000 addition to the printing shop.

Also reflected is an increase in the corps of guards from 62 to 84, additional clerical and cooking help and increases in salaries for all personnel.

Salaries, including the $52,000 for additions and increases, are estimated at $804,008. Other projections: additional equipment, $21,450; repairs, $31,125; operations, $514,616; and lagoon and road repairs, $30,915.

 Although this is the time of year when everyone but the Eskimos are willing to forget the word snow, let's have a few words on the subject. The snow we have in mind, of course, is the small white blobs which dance about on TV screens on occasion. This rather disconcerting phenomenon is something of a problem, particularly in the fringe areas. When the picture signal is weak and the signal-to-noise ratio lessens, we have "snow". You might say that this is a case of both the static noise and the picture being visible on the screen. The noise can be traced to two causes: static or atmospheric noise and internal noise originating in the circuits in the set.

There is precious little we can do about the atmospheric noise, but its effect can be minimized somewhat through use of an antenna which is capable of picking up more picture signal than noise. In short, external improvement of snow begins with a sound, serviceable antenna.

Whatever your problems might be, we at THE RADIO SHOP, 112 South Ohio, in Sedalia are here to solve them for you. ## Scenes Around Sedalia

SURPRISE!—D. Kelly Scruton worked until after 4:30 a.m. today reporting the troubles other people were having because of the ice storm. Then, tired and cold, he returned home. Thanks to the familiar corner, he made it. If it hadn't been for that, he might have missed the place entirely since the ice and wind had almost hidden his home with downed tree limbs. Photographers noticed later Thursday morning he had prudently parked his car far away from any tree limbs that might give up the spirit and tumble to the ground. (Democrat-Capital photos)

Ice Causes Damages In MPSC Area

The heavy icy conditions which started at approximately 6 p.m. Wednesday have caused extensive damage to Missouri Public Service Company's facilities, Clinton Black, MPS District Engineer at Sedalia announced Thursday.

"This is the worst ice storm which we have experienced over such a large area for a number of years," Black said. "Almost all of the company's service area has been severely affected."

"There are literally hundreds of wires down and others are still falling," the MPS District Engineer stated. "Line crews have been working all night and will continue working until all service has been restored. MPS line crews have been brought in to the damaged area from as far north as Trenton and up from Clinton in our Southern Missouri service territory. The company has also hired a number of contract crews to assist with the repairs."

MPS facilities have been severely damaged in the following counties: Clay, Ray, Jackson, Lafayette, Cass, Johnson, Pettis and parts of Bates, Henry and Benton counties.

Black acknowledged that local conditions were quite severe and stated that MPS crews were working around the clock in order to restore service.

Questionable Air Power Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., protested Thursday that U.S. airpower in the Vietnam war is being crippled and downgraded by questionable target restrictions. "Most people do not understand why the application of this arm of our over-all military strength is subjected to fluctuating political decisions to a point never known in military history," Symington said in a Senate speech.

The address came on the heels of word from informed sources that the Johnson administration has barred American pilots from flying within five miles of the center of Hanoi, but Symington did not discuss that particular development.

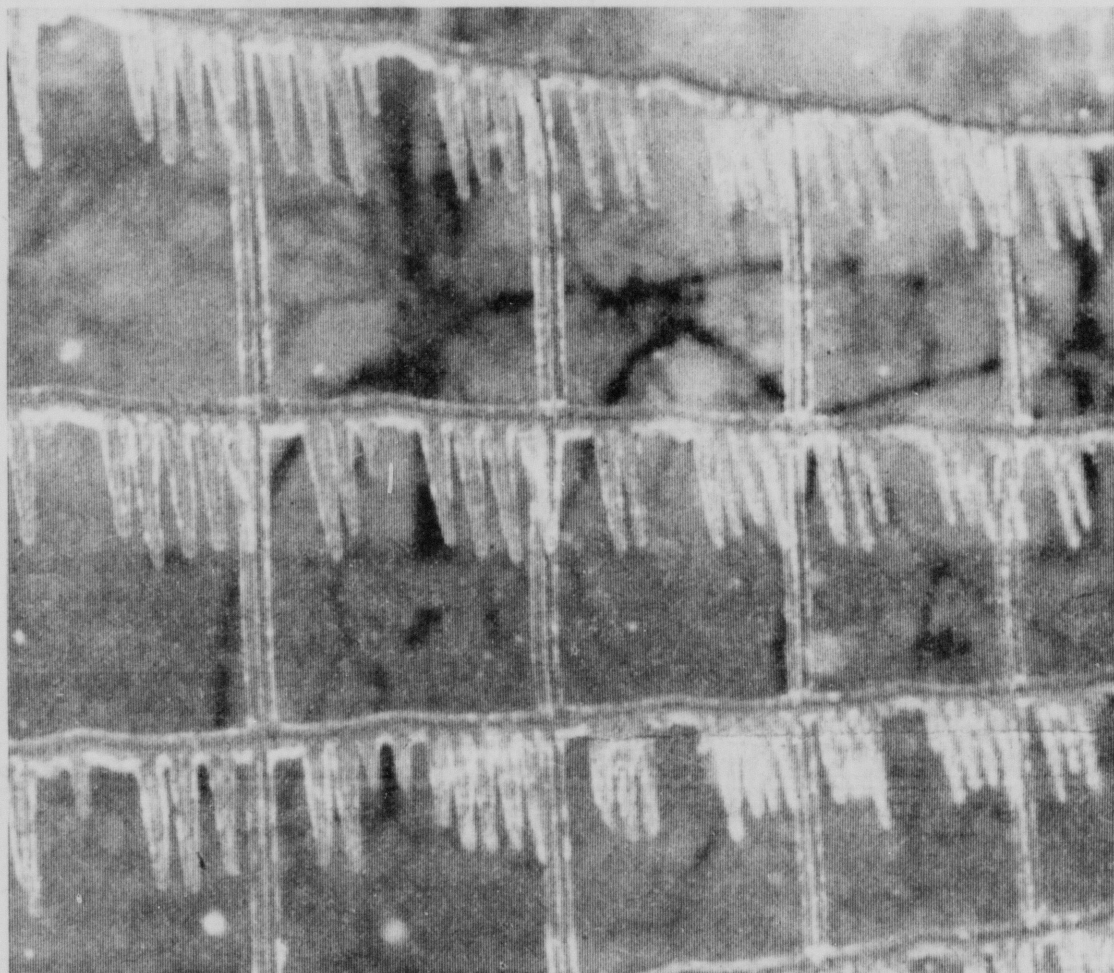

The senator, a former secretary of the Air Force who has visited the Vietnam war area three times in the past year, quoted combat pilots as protesting these limitations, including "seven pages of detailed instructions" on target restrictions.

U.S. pilots are prohibited from attacking enemy airfields and ships loaded with military supplies, Symington said, and then directed to bomb targets in the jungles.

The senator said the enemy has introduced sophisticated ground and air defenses that are taking an increasing toll of U.S. pilots and aircraft.

"We should use our superior airpower to eliminate meaningful military targets in North Vietnam," he said. "Otherwise there is little chance of permanent success in our over-all effort."

Touch of Scenic Beauty

TEARS OF ICE — Although the ice storm brought trouble almost everywhere, some touches of serene beauty were found. This fence is a good example. The object was to take a picture of a tree bent double on the other side of the fence, but instead the camera picked up these graceful, sculptured pieces of ice. Light specks in the picture are flakes of snow which started falling with a will about 9 a.m.

Some Areas Blacked Out

REASON WHY—Some dead trees, such as this one on North Grand, didn't have the strength to take the punishment borne by their more alive neighbors. The results are shown here. The tree limbs fell all over the city, in many cases bringing down electric wires. When that occurred, power in the area went down with the lines. Most of Sedalia was blacked out for a short time during the night, and some of the rural areas were having the same problems even through noon Thursday.

On Almost Any Street

WIND AND ICE—It took that combination to bring this huge limb crashing down on North Grand Thursday morning. Fortunately, the house was spared. The limb looks like it's resting on the roof top of the building when actually several large limbs were holding it up. Many houses were not as fortunate as this one and property damage was expected to rise as damage assessments were made.

Area Struck By Ice Storm; Heavy Damage To Utilities

Many Homes Damaged By Ice-Laden Tree Limbs

Sedalia, with the exception of a small southwest area, was plunged into darkness as the result of an ice storm which affected electric power service at 11:28 p.m. Wednesday. It was about 12:10 a.m. Thursday that partial power was restored and with the exception of a few homes electricity was back on. However, street lights over the city were off and on throughout the remainder of the night and early morning.

The storm played havoc throughout the city, and was the direct cause of the original power failure when wires became shorted by drooping ice-covered limbs.

First Look At Remap Bill Given

Try To Conform To Supreme Court One Man, Vote Rule

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Senate got its first look Thursday at a congressional redistricting bill carrying the seeds of political controversy.

Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy, chairman of the Senate Reapportionment Committee, introduced it in an attempt to conform as nearly as possible with the federal courts' one man-one vote rulings.

He said it was the best that could be devised without splitting any outstate counties. Only St. Louis and St. Louis County would be split under his plan.

The 1965 law thrown out by the federal courts set up districts that varied by about 19 per cent from the norm of 431,981. Avery's bill varies only about 5.7 per cent, well within the 10 per cent margin believed acceptable by the federal courts.

The bill cuts down the size of the three St. Louis city and county districts because the court said they were so big their votes were outweighed by votes from rural areas.

It also adds a slice of northern St. Louis County — Florissant Township—to the 9th District of northeastern Missouri. This is a Democratic area that could be counter balanced by the addition of Republican Franklin County to the district represented by Rep. William L. Hungate, D-Troy.

On the southern edge of the metropolitan area, LeMay township of St. Louis County and the 11th ward of the city would be added to the Democratic 10th District of southeastern Missouri, running from there to the Arkansas line along the eastern edge of the state.

That raises some political problems. It transfers Democratic Jefferson County from the 8th District, represented by Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Houston, to the 10th.

Jefferson County is the home of State Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, who had indicated he wanted to run against Ichord in the 8th.

Phone Company Pays Pettis County Taxes

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company announced today a property tax payment of $178,095.55 to Pettis County for 1966.

According to Jim Mayes, Manager, this money is used for county appropriations only and is in addition to the more than $6 million the company pays in gross receipts and license tax throughout the state.

This payment makes Southwestern Bell Telephone Company the largest taxpayer in Pettis County.

Snow To Be Graded In Residential Areas

The Street and Alley Department of Sedalia requests that all owners of automobiles remove them from the main thoroughfares in the residential areas. They will be grading snow along these routes starting at 7:30 a.m. Friday. If cars are not moved they may be buried even deeper by the graders.

Chicago Has Nine Inches

Big Snowstorm Across Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A heavy snowstorm streaking across the Midwest in a band only 50 to 100 miles wide caught Chicago squarely Thursday under a 9-inch blanket that all but immobilized traffic.

Only 90 miles to the north, Milwaukee escaped the snow.

But to the south, a belt of freezing rain paralleling the snow path from Kansas to northern and central Indiana brought hundreds of electrical service interruptions as ice-coated lines were snapped by brisk winds.

Thunderstorms and the threat of tornadoes dominated the southern part of the rainy area. The snow, whipped by 20 to 25-m.p.h. northwest winds, piled up drifts which virtually shut down operations at O'Hare International Airport in Chicago. Air traffic was halted at Kansas City, Mo., also.

Snowdrifts of 4 to 5 feet blocked some highways, and blowing snow cut visibility to zero at times for motorists.

The snow buildup, starting with Chicago's morning rush hour traffic, was so rapid that commuters were confronted with glass-smooth, icy, snow-packed expressway pavements. Many cars simply stalled on slight grades for lack of traction, and jams built up in several sections of the major expressways network. At one hour, the Dan Ryan Expressway, just south of Chicago's Loop district, was described as "a big parking lot."

A snow load brought the roof of a one-story warehouse crashing down in Chicago.

Hundreds of schools were closed in the territory. Inability of school buses to make their rounds caused closing of snow-bound schools in the freezing rain strip.

Hazardous driving conditions were the rule, but there was little traffic outside the cities. Lansing, Ill., 20 miles south of Chicago, had a 10-inch snow measurement at noon. Eight inches covered O'Hare's runways, but it was mounded into six-foot drifts.

Some of the freezing rainfall added to misery in the wake of tornadoes which destroyed 168 houses and caused major damage to 258 more in suburbs of St. Louis on Tuesday night. There was rain also in the sections of Oklahoma which were raked by twisters Wednesday night leaving four persons injured. Two children were killed in the Tuesday storm in St. Louis County and 217 persons were injured.

Roads in the St. Louis area were ice-glazed Thursday. Ice coated most roads in northern Missouri.

The snow and rain drove eastward across southern Michigan and Indiana during the afternoon.

In the Far West, heavy snowfall along the southern edge of Oregon buried Klamath Falls, a city of 17,700, under 5-foot drifts. All schools there were closed as the snow continued falling. Main highways were open, however.

Kiwians To Stay On 'Pancake' Duty

Sedalia Kiwanians are indignant because of an inference in a news item that members will serve as cooks and waiters only from the time the club's Pancake Day closes at 7 p.m. Saturday Feb. 11 at Sacred Heart Cafeteria. They want the public to know that they will be on the job at 7 o'clock that morning and stay with it until after 7 o'clock that evening.

Misinformation in the news item was caused by a line of type not dropping.

Bill Dugan and his committee who are engineering the Pancake Day to raise funds for the organization's Youth program say they understand how the error occurred and will be satisfied with an adequate correction — which this is.

In LBJ Message

Predict Moderate Advance Of Economy Through 1967

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson directed Thursday that plans be prepared to avoid a recession that might otherwise follow "the welcome day of peace" in Vietnam.

The possibilities of quick tax reduction and spending speed-ups will be studied by a Cabinet-level group, Johnson told Congress, as part of a "major and coordinated effort to review our readiness" for the war's end — a day still not foreseen, he emphasized.

The announcement came in his annual economic report. In it, Johnson forecast a moderate advance of the economy through 1967, if it can be steered past the hazards of inflation on the one side and recession on the other.

The outlook is for a $47-billion rise of national output, he said, to a record $767 billion — a slower climb than in 1966, but with smaller price rises, easier money, and continued almost-full employment.

Johnson renewed urgently his appeal to labor and industry for wage and price restraint, in continued voluntary support of guideline policies, to avoid "a wage-price spiral which is in the interest of neither."

Unless both labor and management absorb part of their rising costs, he said, "the result will be just such a spiral — damaging to business, damaging to labor, and disastrous to the nation."

But the surprise of the message, sent to the Capitol along with a report by the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was a section titled "After Vietnam."

Johnson said he was naming Gardner Ackley, economic council chairman, to take leadership of a postwar study group made up of the heads of the appropriate federal departments.

Among other preparedness efforts, he said, Ackley's group will:

—Consider "possibilities and priorities for tax reduction."

—Determine which high-priority government programs can be expanded quickly.

—Prepare for a prompt easing of credit and expansion of money supply.

—Examine ways in which the transition to peace can be smoothed for the workers, companies and communities now engaged in supplying our defense needs, and the men released from our armed forces."

The message exuded economic optimism. "Prosperity is everywhere evident," said the President in forecasting a seventh year of unbroken growth.

The unemployment rate should stay close to the current 3.9 per cent, he predicted.

But the forecast of 1967 national output was conservative. It called for a 6.5 per cent rise compared to 8.5 per cent last year. When deflated for probable price increases, it shrank to 4 per cent.

Johnson said the stimulus of his $135-billion spending budget, tempered at midyear by the proposed 6 per cent income tax surcharge, provides the proper fiscal mix to keep the economy on the course of "sustainable expansion" — fast enough to prevent stalling, slow enough to avoid overheating.

The council's accompanying report foresaw a price rise of about 2.5 per cent this year, compared with the 3.3 per cent of 1966—which Johnson called intolerable.

Concerning interest rates, which zoomed to 40-year highs in 1966, choking off the supply of mortgage credit and sending the housing industry into a depression, Johnson said:

"The burden of tight money is being lifted. Interest rates are still extremely high, but they are moving down from their peaks."

The housing industry should be "moving smartly forward by the end of 1967, and ready for one of its best years in 1968," he said.

The council's report warned unions that a general adoption of cost-of-living escalators in wage contracts—a current bargaining trend—could become "a vast engine of inflation."

EDITORIALS

The Cynics Contradicted

Progress: the action or process of advancing or improving by marked degrees.

What does that have to do with Sedalia? What does that have to do with this edition of the Sedalia Democrat and Capital.

Simply this, Sedalia has progressed during 1966 and the story must be told if for no other reason than to confound the chronic complainers with narrow viewpoint who never acknowledge that the community in which they live is progressing.

Those who refuse to budge an inch from their negative opinions remind us of a story we heard recently about a stranger visiting a community and commenting to a local business man about the town's progress.

"I've noticed during my short stay so many new improvements here," the stranger remarked. "What a progressive community you have with the parks, the streets, and that big new school building across the street!"

"Yeah," growled the local business man "and I voted against everyone of them."

Sedalia is not standing still. Month by month in 1966 construction and expansion occurred in diversified areas of the community. People have a tendency to be unimpressed with step by step developments until the picture of progress is brought into accurate perspective through the medium of their daily newspapers publishing a Special Edition such as this one of the Democrat-Capital which contains a business and industry review of 1966 and forecasts. The material herein now becomes a composite picture in definitive focus on extensive and diversified community developments.

Stories and pictures of all the related activities of Sedalia's progress in 1966 are intensely stimulating in retrospect and challenging to establish future goals as we enter 1967.

The capacity of these newspapers was strained to produce this edition in old quarters inadequate to accommodate the great volume of advertising, news stories and pictures. Preparation of the latter was a race against time. Hence, some of the material — further evidence of great progress here — will necessarily have to appear from time to time in subsequent issues of the newspapers. For this we are sorry. Next year it will be different when we are in a new building equipped with modern offset machinery.

In the meantime, all those area residents who read this edition and the stories which follow may be justly proud to have the personal interest of participation in the development of Sedalia as an enterprising community.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Gov. Romney Urged to Woo Nixon

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It's interesting that when George Romney had to decide whether to run for Governor of Michigan he spent a week in solitary communion with God. Now that he has to decide whether to run for president of the United States, he's spending more than a week communing with New York politicians.

Without passing judgment on whether God or the politicians are more important in George's life, it's interesting to note that one of the politicians he is communing with is Leonard Hall, genial former chairman of the Republican National Committee and the man who did more than anyone else to reelect Eisenhower in 1956.

Len is a past master at politics. He has put more good men in high office in recent decades than anyone else except Jim Farley. But Len could never put himself in high office.

This was because he made the mistake of ignoring the Corrupt Practices Act by demanding a $7,500 political contribution from the Frederick H. Snare Company after it received a government contract for the Nicaro Nickel project in Cuba.

It's against the law to require a political contribution for a government contract, which Len should have known; and Democratic members of a House investigating committee demanded that he be prosecuted. A Republican Attorney General was then in charge of the Justice Department. There was no prosecution. But GOP leaders were afraid the Democrats would raise unpleasant questions if Len ran for Governor of New York.

So Len has remained on the sidelines as a king-maker, and recently has given Romney some sage advice. He has suggested that he get the support of Richard Nixon by offering him a place in the Romney cabinet. Dick, it was suggested, might be interested in becoming Secretary of State. Nixon, however, is playing coy. He seems to be more interested in frying his own presidential fish than frying Romney's. He is going to wait and see how the political polls read, and if LBJ's poll is still down in 1968 Nixon will run himself, not be Secretary of State in Romney's cabinet.

Note — Shortly before Christmas Nixon expressed the private view that no candidate, either Republican or Democratic, could defeat Bobby Kennedy in '68. He also said that if the Democratic delegates at the next convention were given their lead, unopposed, they would nominate Bobby rather than LBJ. This, however, was before the furor over Bobby's censorship of the Manchester book, and the headline over wire tapping.

Poker-Playing Woes

Shortly before he left for Moscow, U.S. Ambassador Tommy Thompson is reported to have got bluffed out of a big poker pot by columnist Art Buchwald at the home of newscaster David Brinkley.

"If I can do that to him, what can the Russians do?" remarked Buchwald as he raked in the chips.

This was nothing, however, compared to what the handsome Ambassador of Kuwait, Talat Al-Ghoussein, did to Buchwald.

The specialty of the Ambassador of Kuwait, richest country per capita in the world, is bridge, not poker. Nevertheless, playing with Buchwald, Brinkley, Thompson et al., he took them for a total of $1,200.

Since then the Brinkley poker club has welcomed the Malaysian Ambassador, Tan Sri Ong Yoke Lin, with much more enthusiasm than Ambassador Talat Al-Ghoussein.

"You Have a Visitor from Moscow, Mr. Chairman!"

Some Drastic Changes

Missouri Reapportionment Gives Political Problems

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Some of Missouri's congressmen may scream their heads off but they must face the facts of life. When the legislature reapportions their districts they are going to have some new political problems.

Out-state districts must be enlarged to conform with the U.S. Supreme Court's one man-one vote rule. And some drastic changes will have to be made in the metropolitan areas, particularly in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

The reshuffling could result in Missouri having its first Negro Congressman — in the 1st district of northern St. Louis where Rep. Frank M. Karsen, D-St. Louis, now holds sway.

Sen. Omery H. Avery, D-Troy is chairman of the Senate committee that will handle congressional redistricting, as he was two years ago. The committee worked out a plan that was within about six per cent of the population between districts.

The House objected and the General Assembly wound up passing a bill with a population variance of around 19 per cent. This was not acceptable to the federal courts and last week the Supreme Court told the legislature in effect it must redistrict before Jan. 1, 1968, or the 1968 congressional candidates must run at large.

Everyone is opposed to that and Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has said that if the legislature does not do the job before July 1, a special session will be necessary.

Avery is working on a bill that would provide a population variation of only 3 per cent but wants to confer with St. Louis and Kansas City leaders before drawing the district lines in the metropolitan areas. He said hearings would start as soon as the bill is ready, perhaps in several weeks.

The Weather

There's mystery in the early morning hours,
The dawn, with clouds, does it mean sun or showers?
Dark clouds, you can't tell, maybe snow,
And what to wear, we really never know;
Then as the shades of morning now grow brighter,
The black clouds look a little lighter,
The wind is blowing fairly hard, we see
The rhythm of the wires and the tree,
I have misgivings for my shoes with their bows
Will not fit my galoshes if it snows
Each very early morning I look out
But always in my mind there is a doubt,
Sometimes I take a chance, offer a prayer
That I have chosen right in what to wear,
That maybe the dark clouds of the dawn,
By noon time will be completely gone,
And if the wind is very cold, perhaps,
I've worn, this day, my very warmest wraps,
If it turns out to be a rainy day
I'll have a little rain-cap tucked away,
But even if the sunrise fairly glows,
Just what the day will hold nobody knows,
For even the weatherman has a doubt
How his predictions on the unpredictable will turn out.

Warm Food Renders
More Taste Appeal

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q — Fifteen minutes before dinner I always put my glass of milk in the freezing compartment because I like my food ice cold. Is this harmful? Why should one not put bananas in the refrigerator?

A — Anyone who has a tendency to attacks of colitis should not take foods or drinks that are ice cold because chilling within the abdomen irritates the intestines. Some persons with a "cast iron stomach" apparently get away with it — for a while at least. You may enjoy the feel of cold food and drink in your mouth but chilling deadens the taste buds and decreases the flavor of your foods. Chilling also slows chemical reactions and thus may interfere to some degree with the chemical processes of digestion. When they are kept in a refrigerator bananas develop an unpleasant taste but, unless chilled to too low a temperature, they may be kept in the refrigerator when they are incorporated in a cream pie or a molded fruit salad.

Q — My doctor says I have morphea. What causes it and is there any cure for it?

A — The cause of this chronic skin disease is not known. In this disease certain areas of the skin become thick and hard. Prednisone or prednisolone may give some relief. They require a doctor's prescription and careful supervision. Anyone taking these drugs should also be given drugs to prevent peptic ulcer.

Oil Window Shades
Before Discarding

DEAR POLLY — How many times have we bought new roller shades because the old ones would not roll up and down properly? I once commented that the springs on a shade were probably broken and a decorator working in the house said to try oiling the ends of each roller on the springs before throwing it away. I took down the blind, did just what he said and it rolled like new. I was saved the expense of new blinds.—MRS. L. P.

DEAR POLLY — The best way I have found to fill freezer bags is to use a No. 2 can in which fruit or vegetables came. I cut out both ends and mash one end just enough to fit in the bag. It is then easy to hold the bag and can with one hand and fill (through the funnel-like can) with the other.—KATHY

Women's Club
Tests Hearts
Of Children

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A suitcase-sized device is helping housewives conduct a massive electronic dragnet for school-children with hidden heart defects.

The device is called the phonocardi-scan. It is simple to operate, but sophisticated enough to tell — by means of its programming — whether a heart murmur is normal.

Under the direction of Dr. William F. Murphy, a Norfolk pediatrician, and Dr. Douglas Moore, director of the heart-lung laboratory at Norfolk Area Medical Center, the Cavalier Junior Women's Club staged the first screening program Thursday at Young Park school.

Members of the club, who learned how to operate the machine in about three hours, examined 118 children during the morning, many times the number a trained doctor could examine using ordinary methods.

The phonocardi-scan records both the electrical impulses and sounds of a person's heartbeat — taking about three minutes per patient.

The 18-pound machine ignores "innocent" heart murmurs, but draws attention to possibly serious irregularities with a series

Letter To
The Editor

L. L. STUDER (721 West 3rd) — It has been published in the newspapers that there will be introduced in this session of the State Legislature a bill to increase the salaries of State Representatives from $4,800.00 to $9,000.00 annually. The State of Missouri is one of the few states in the nation that has not provided a bonus to the veterans of World War II. The members of the State Legislature have always claimed that the State does not have the available funds to provide a bonus to our veterans of World War II who offered to give all that they had in defense of our beloved country. But the State Legislature will not have any difficulty at all to provide the necessary funds to increase the salaries of the State Representatives, nearly double their present salaries and to such a large group who are only in session at Jefferson City a small part of the two-year term to which they have been elected.

This proposed salary increase is wholly unwarranted and should be vigorously opposed by the Taxpayers of Missouri.

of flashing lights and a reading on a numbered scale. The patient is then referred to a physician for further examination.

The phonocardi-scan was designed by Harvey F. Glassner as part of a graduate research project at UCLA. It is manufactured by Thiokol Chemical Co., and sells for about $3,000.

Following extensive field-testing in Chicago, Washington and Los Angeles, the computer is being used here for the first time in a mass screening program.

The Marines said that it appeared most of the injuries were minor. Nine of the injured were taken to the base hospital and the others were released after receiving first aid.

A spokesman said the big mortar shell apparently exploded soon after leaving the weapon. The injured were members of the gun crew, the Marines said.

Last Arguments
In Baker Case
Set For Friday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Closing arguments in the income tax evasion trial of former Senate aide Bobby Baker will start at 12:30 p.m. Friday in U. S. District Court, and the case will go to the jury Saturday.

This schedule was set Thursday after attorneys for both sides spent eight hours in legal argument in the closed chambers of Judge Oliver Gasch, who has presided over the trial since it began almost three weeks ago.

Both the prosecution and the defense made suggestions and requests as to what should be included in the judge's charge to the jury, scheduled for Saturday morning.

The jurors, who have been locked up each night during the trial, were not in the courtroom Thursday. They are staying in private rooms on the top floors of the courthouse.

Defense attorneys renewed their motions Thursday for dismissal of the charges against Baker. The judge again denied their motions.

Accidents

Two persons were injured in a two-vehicle collision on the Heath Creek Bridge about 9 a.m. Thursday on north Highway 65, almost at the same spot where a fatal accident occurred several days ago.

Hospitalized in Thursday's mishap were Charles E. Bickert, 27, Englewood, Calif., who received a concussion, multiple lacerations of the face and mouth and an ankle injury; and Lynn Corine Anderson, 20, Bridgeton, Mo., who received a laceration on the right side of the head, an ankle injury and a possible concussion. The two were passengers in a vehicle driven by Willard Carver Hazlett, 30, Del Garden, Calif., who received a laceration of the forehead, a contusion of the left cheek and other multiple contusions.

Trooper Charles Pieper of the Missouri Highway Patrol reported Hazlett was driving a 1966 Volkswagen bus north on the highway. He said the Hazlett vehicle was in collision with a 1962 International tractor-trailer unit, driven south by Glenn Herschell McDonald, 37, Springfield.

Pieper said the Volkswagen left the roadway after the collision, going through the bridge railing at Heath Creek on the east side and north end of the bridge—almost the same spot where a Marshall, Mo., man was killed several days ago.

The Volkswagen came to a stop on the embankment and apparently did not go down to the creek level. The bus was listed as demolished, while only minor damage occurred to the tractor-trailer. icy conditions on the highway were held partly responsible for the accident.

Two persons escaped injury when a 1966 Chevrolet driven north on Highway 65 left the roadway about one and nine-tenths of a mile north of the junction of Routes D and J about 10:20 a.m. Thursday.

The car was driven by John Henry Emmel, 51, Charles City, Iowa, and was headed north when it apparently skidded on a slick spot on the highway. The car went into a ditch, but investigating officer Charles Pieper, Missouri Highway Patrol, said no damage was done.

Emmel was accompanied by his wife, Bernice Mary Emmel, 50, and both escaped injury.

A minor accident occurred at Tenth and Ingram at 3:28 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1961 Ford, driven north on Ingram by James D. Giten, 30, 103 West Saline, and a 1964 Chevrolet, driven west on Tenth by Arthur Carl Bethke, 54, 1013 East Sixth.

Damage occurred to the left front end of the Ford. There was no damage to the Chevrolet.

Slight damage occurred in an accident at Third and Lamine at 2:51 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1967 Chrysler, driven west on Third by Joseph Lamy, 18, 509 West Broadway, and a 1966 Volkswagen, driven west on Third by Earl A. Horton, 52, 1212 Maple Lane.

Damage resulted to the rear end of the Volkswagen. There was no damage to the Chrysler.

A two-car accident occurred at Broadway and Ruth Ann at 2:53 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1965 Pontiac, driven west on Broadway by Dennis Frisch, 17, Lincoln, and a 1965 Plymouth, driven west on Broadway by Delmer Gann, 41, 2707 West 11th.

Damage occurred to the front end of the Pontiac and to the rear of the Plymouth.

A two-vehicle accident occurred at 15th and Marvin at 3:21 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1962 Mercury, driven east on 15th by Judith Goff, 26, 663 East 15th, and a 1959 Dodge truck, driven north on Marvin by Kenneth Geiser, 28, 1413 East 14th.

Damage occurred to the left front end of the Mercury and there was no damage to the truck.

A minor accident occurred at 2601 East Broadway at 12:32 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1964 Chevrolet, owned by Frank Strain, and parked at that address, and a 1962 Corvair, driven east on Broadway by Marion E. Bass, 19, 812 East Tenth.

Damage occurred to the right side of the Corvair. There was no report of damage to the Corvair.

A one car accident occurred, according to the Highway Patrol, as David Joseph Thomas, 45, Belton, was driving his 1964 Ford south on Highway 65, when he hit a patch of ice on the pavement and lost control of his car. The car ran off the road and overturned in the ditch. Bacon's

Police then received a radio report from a police patrol car that wind had slammed a storm door at the Estes Cafe, 16th and Osage, and broke out the two glasses in it.

Then the police had two out-of-the-city calls. One was a relay message from Boeing that a power line was hanging over State Highway 18 two miles north of Post Oak and asked the State Patrol to be notified. They in turn notified Warrensburg Police, who in turn notified the electric company to which the line belonged. Then a call from a resident at a Knob Noster trailer park asking the police to locate the owner of the park and notify him the power was off there.

There were numerous other calls from residents seeking information as to why the power was off and "when will it be back on?"

Clinton Black, engineer in charge of the power for the Missouri Public Service Co., in the Sedalia district, was on the job within a short time after the blackout and in turn he had linemen out checking on all calls received at the power plant and those relayed through the police department.

No estimate of damage done to the power lines was available but it was indicated the sum would be high by the time all repairs were completed to power lines and transformers.

Workers for the Street and Alley Department turned their attention Thursday to sawing up and removing tree limbs from the streets.

It was reported early Thursday the REA power lines near Sweet Springs had snapped and crews from the Central Missouri Electric Co-Op were dispatched to the area to make necessary repairs.

The radio tower belonging to Marvin Howard, and located just north of Sedalia on Highway 65, collapsed Wednesday night. Howard reported that the 336-foot tower collapsed after being covered with a thick coating of ice.

Sedalia firemen made the following calls Thursday afternoon and evening to places about Sedalia which had reported wires down.

Salvation
Army Topic
For Kiwanis

"What Everyone Should Know About the Salvation Army," was the subject of a talk by Major Marjorie Weber, of the Sedalia Corps, speaking before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon. She was introduced by the Rev. Clifford Saunders, program chairman.

Major Weber explained that the Army is an international, religious and charitable non-profit organization based on the love for God and love for man. It serves in 69 countries, preaches in 162 languages and maintains 19,978 religious and charitable centers and 28 schools for officers' training. The Army in times of disaster is always ready with mobile canteens to bring food, coffee, clothing, blankets, medical supplies and spiritual ministry to stricken areas.

As a part of its innumerable activities, the Army through its letter and kettle program each Christmas brings food, clothing and remembrances to needy and forgotten people.

Major Weber thanked the local Kiwanis for their part in making the kettles this past Christmas season and noted that this and the Tree of Light programs brought benefits to 1,278 area people.

President J. G. Gokaris noted that if all club members noted their tickets for the Pancake Day project which will be held between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. at Sacred Heart Cafeteria Saturday, Feb. 11 a total of $2,000 would be raised for the club's youth program.

President Gokaris also made distribution of perfect attendance tabs and recognized the following:

24 years—George H. Scruton, 23 years—Pinkney Miller, 21 years—Abe Rosenthal, 18 years—Edw. McLaughlin, 13 years—Leo W. Harned, William Ward, Virgil Winge and Sylvan Woolery.

is bound to be wide open because Rep. Paul C. Jones, D-Kennett, has announced his retirement and there are many potential candidates.

In the Kansas City metropolitan area Democratic Rep. Richard Bolling's 5th District would continue to be entirely within the city.

But Rep. William J. Randall, D-Independence, would have his 4th District greatly enlarged. In addition to the eastern edge of Jackson County it would include Cass, Bates, Vernon, St. Clair, Henry, Johnson, Lafayette, Benton, Hickory, Saline, Carroll, Chariton, Ray and Howard counties.

A few of these are Republican areas.

The 7th District of southwestern Missouri, represented now by Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Springfield, would continue to be heavily Republican.

The 6th, 8th and 9th districts also would pick up some additional Republican votes.

Rep. W. R. Hull Jr., D-Weston, represents the 6th District now. Under Avery's bill he would have to campaign in a district stretching from Clay and Platte counties on the southwest to Scotland County on the northeast.

No hearing has been set on the bill.

In a brief session Thursday, the Senate advanced a bill to increase the welfare division's health and hospital advisory commission from 15 to 20 members, adding some professional specialists.

Then it adjourned until 4 p.m., Monday, the same time the House comes back to work.
